Northwest Plumbing Heating & AC Announces Seasonal Drain Cleaning Services to Prevent Winter Clogged Sinks

June 15, 2026

DAVENPORT, Iowa - June 15, 2026 -
Northwest Plumbing Heating & AC has announced expanded drain cleaning services to address the increased risk of clogged sinks and drainage issues that typically occur during winter months across the Quad Cities region. The company, which has served local residents since 1923, is emphasizing preventative maintenance as temperatures drop and household plumbing systems face additional strain from holiday cooking and cold weather conditions.

The timing of this service expansion coincides with the company's Deal of the Month program, which provides residents with special pricing on essential home services during peak demand periods. Winter months often see a significant increase in kitchen drain blockages due to holiday meal preparation and improper disposal of cooking grease, which solidifies more quickly in cold pipes.

"Winter presents unique challenges for residential plumbing systems, particularly kitchen drains that handle increased usage during holiday gatherings," said Bill Durand, Service Manager at Northwest Plumbing Heating & AC. "Grease and food particles that might flow through pipes during warmer months can solidify quickly when temperatures drop, leading to stubborn clogs that require professional attention."

The company's drain cleaning services utilize professional-grade equipment including camera inspection technology to identify blockages and potential pipe damage before they become emergency situations. This proactive approach helps homeowners avoid the inconvenience and expense of emergency plumbing calls during family gatherings or severe weather events.

Beyond drain cleaning, Northwest Plumbing Heating & AC maintains comprehensive plumbing capabilities throughout the winter season, addressing water heater failures, frozen pipe prevention, and sump pump maintenance. The company's 24-hour emergency service ensures residents have access to professional assistance when unexpected plumbing issues arise.

The recent news article published by the company highlights the importance of regular maintenance in preventing costly repairs. Professional drain cleaning removes accumulated debris, mineral deposits, and grease buildup that standard household methods cannot effectively address. This preventative approach extends the lifespan of plumbing systems and maintains optimal water flow throughout the home.

"Regular drain maintenance is an investment in your home's plumbing infrastructure," added Durand. "By addressing minor issues before they escalate, homeowners can avoid the disruption and expense of major repairs, especially during the busy holiday season when having functional plumbing is essential."

The company offers Service Partner Agreements starting at $119.40 annually for plumbing maintenance, which includes scheduled inspections and priority service scheduling. These agreements provide homeowners with peace of mind knowing their plumbing systems receive regular professional attention.

Northwest Plumbing Heating & AC has served the Quad Cities area for over a century, establishing itself as a trusted provider of residential plumbing, heating, and cooling services. The locally owned company maintains a team of experienced technicians trained in the latest diagnostic and repair techniques. In addition to plumbing services, the company provides comprehensive heating system maintenance, repair, and installation services, ensuring homes remain comfortable throughout the winter months.
